

Papers Presented on Competitively Selected Convention Panels

Houston, R., & Quinlan, M. M. (2014). What's in it for me? Reactions to mandated health self-disclosure in higher education. Paper presented on a panel Applied Communication Division at the 100th annual meeting of the National Communication Association in Chicago, IL.

Quinlan, M. M., & Davis, C. S. (2013). Constructing the dead: Retrospective sensemaking in eulogies. Panel on Social construction of death and life: Discursive construction of the living dead. Paper presented to Communication as Social Construction Division at the National Communication Association, 99th Annual Convention, Washington, DC.

Quinlan, M. M. (2013). Silencing, embodying and gendering (dis)ability in healthcare settings. Paper presented on the unsaid, the unvoiced and the unheard silence and (dis)connection in disability issues at the National Communication Association, 99th Annual Convention, Washington, DC.

Quinlan, M. M. (2011). Becoming a dendrite through (dis)Ability crystallization research. Roundtable on L. E. Ellingson's Engaging crystallization in qualitative research: An introduction (2008). Paper focuses on feminism and research methods. Disability Issues Caucus at the National Communication Association, 97th Annual Convention, New Orleans, LA.

Quinlan, M. M. (2010). Multiple stories for multiple audiences: Bridging stakeholder communities with crystallization. Mini-conference discussant at the National Communication Association, 96th Annual Convention, San Francisco, CA. This miniconference focused on L. E. Ellingson's Engaging crystallization in qualitative research: An introduction (2008).

Chair/Respondent on Competitively Selected Conference Panels

Respondent (2013). Moving beyond the binary of logic of 'visible' and 'invisible' disabilities. Disability Issues Caucus interest group at the National Communication Association, 99th Annual Convention, Washington, DC.

Respondent/Chair (2012). Understanding of disability in academia through performance, participation in sports, and improved communication competence. Disability Issues Caucus interest group at the National Communication Association, 98th Annual Convention, Orlando, FL.

Respondent/Chair (2012). Understanding the tensions of defining self as capable organizational leader, as active healthcare participant, and interpersonally competent person with autism. Disability Issues Caucus interest group at the National Communication Association, 98th Annual Convention, Orlando, FL.